Reflexive Pronouns

- When the third-person subject (he, she, it, they) acts upon itself, use the reflexive pronoun sē
 - The cases of sē (sēsē) are used instead for all genders, singular and plural

Gen.	suī	of (him, her, it; them)self; his, her, its, their own
Dat.	sibi	to (him, her, it; them)self
Acc.	sē (sēsē)	(him, her, it; them)self
Abl.	sē (sēsē)	by (him, her, it; them)self

- Note the examples below:

Arachnē sē docet.	Arachne teaches herself .
Vir ā sē necātus est.	The man was killed by himself .
Fēminae sē laudant.	The women praise themselves .
Narissus erat sibi grātissimus.	Narcissus was very pleasing to himself .
Discipulus sē laudat.	The student praises himself .

- Just like the reflexive adjective suus, -a, -um modifies nouns being possessed by the third-person subject

Magistra discipulōs suōs docet.	The teacher teaches her own students.
Canis cibum suum edit.	The dog eats his own food.
Parentes liberōs suōs amat.	The parents love their own children.
Poeta fabulam suam narrat.	The poet narrates his own story.
Puella cum orbe suō ludit.	The girl plays with her own ball.

- Reflexive Pronouns do also exist in the 1st and 2nd person

	sg. myself	pl. ourselves	sg. yourself	pl. yourselves
Gen.	mei	nostrī	tui	vestri
Dat.	mihi	nobis	tibi	vobis
Acc	me	nos	te	vos
Abl	me	nobis	te	vobis
