Grammatica

Comparative Degree of Adjectives

- Just like adjectives in English, Latin adjectives have degrees of comparison
 - smart smarter smartest
 - tired more tired most tired
 - light lighter lightest
 - These degrees of comparison are called
 - Positive: durus hard
 - Comparative: durior harder
 - Superlative: durissimus hardest
 - The comparative degree is formed by adding -ior to the stem of the positive

longus	long	longior	longer brevis	short	brevior	shorter audax	bold	audacior	bolder

This applies to all adjectives, including those of both the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd declensions (there are not adjectives for the fourth or fifth declensions).

- The superlative degree is formed by adding -issimus to the stem of the positive longus	long	longior	longer	longissimus	longest brevis	short	brevior	shorter	brevissimus	shortest audax	bold	audacior	bolder	audacissimus	boldest

- Adjectives that end in -er have a superlative ending in -rimus

acer	sharp	acrior	sharper		sharpest pulcher	beautiful	pulchrior	more beautiful		most beautiful miser	miserable	miserior	more miserable		most miserable

- Adjectives that end in -lis have a superlative ending in -limus

similis	like	similior	more like	simillimus	most like facilis	easy
difficilis	difficult dissimilis	unlike
gracilis	slender
humilis	lowly

Irregular Comparatives of Adjectives

- For many adjectives, the comparative and superlative degrees are quite different from the positive. Some are irregular in both English and Latin.
 - good better best
 - bad worse worst
 - much more most
- In the first group of adjectives, the stem of the comparative and superlative degrees are not the same as the stem of the positive

bonus	good	melior	better	optimus	best malus	bad	peior	worse	pessimus	worst magnus	great	maior	greater	maximus	greatest parvus	small	minor	smaller	minimus	smallest multus	much	plus	more	plurimus	most

- In the next group, some comparatives and superlatives corresponded to adverbs derived from the same stem

extra	outside	exterior	outer	extremus	outermost infra	below	inferior	lower	infimus	lowest supra	above	superior	higher	supremus, summus	highest post	after	posterior	latter	postremus	last intra	within	interior	inner	intimus	inmost prae	before	prior	former	primus	first prope	near	propior	nearer	proximus	next ultra	beyond	ulterior	farther	ultimus	farthest

- The first four do have positive adjectives, but they are rare and more common in the plural (superi, 'the gods above').
- Adjectives ending in -eus and -ius form the comparative by adding magis, 'more', and the superlative by adding maxime, 'most'.

idoneus	fit	magis idoneus	maxime idoneus
dubius	doubtful	magis dubius	maxime dubius

Grammatica

Declension of the Comparative and Superlative

- The comparative ending -ior is declined like a third declension adjective of two terminations, but the ablative singular ends in -e and the genitive plural in -um.

	Singular		Plural
	M and F	N	M and F	N
melior, better
Nom	melior	melius	meliores	meliora
Gen	melioris		meliorum
Dat	meliori		melioribus
Acc	meliorem	melius	meliores (-is)	meliora
Abl	meliore		melioribus

	Singular		Plural
	M and F	N	M and F	N
brevior, shorter

Dat
Acc
Abl

	Singular		Plural
longior, longer

- Adjectives of the superlative degree follow the same pattern as adjectives of the 1st and 2nd declension.
